DIRECT TRADE WITH EUROPE.

The good people of Charleston were startled most pleasantly on Friday morning last by the arrival in that harbor of the first direct steamship Golden Horn, from Hartlepool, England, the pioneer of the line between Liverpool and Charleston.—Her cargo had already been engaged and she will leave for Liverpool on the 15th instant, soon to be followed by the Marmora and Bosphorus.

Anticipating the early establishment of the line between Savannah and Liverpool, it occurs to the Columbus Enquirer of Saturday to show the immense advantages sure to result not alone to the cotton planters, but the South generally, from direct trade with European markets, taking Friday's quotations in New York and Liverpool, and New York respectively, as a basis of argument, in order to show the pecuniary advantages of such a policy. It will be seen, says the Enquirer, that while our middling cottons are quoted in Liverpool at 11d., they are quoted in New York at only 25c.—the Liverpool market having been improving for several days of this week, while no improvement is discernible in the New York market. It is evidently the purpose of the "bears" of the latter to keep down the prices as long as they can, in the hope of thus reacting upon the advancing tendency of the foreign markets.

Now let us compare the real values of these quotations, and see the true difference. When gold is worth 134½, the value of the greenback dollar is 75 cents. The New York quotation, then, is 18¾c. in gold. To the Liverpool quotation of 11d. (22c.) in gold, we must add the difference in exchange between American specie funds and British sterling. This is usually 8 to 9 per cent., say 2 cents to the pound of cotton.—Thus we have 24 cents in American coin as the real price in Liverpool of our middling cotton yesterday, or 5¼ in gold more than the New York price. The freight charge on cotton from New York to Liverpool by steamer, as quoted by the New York Times of the 24th instant, was ½d.—we will say, estimating as much for insurance, that 1c. in gold pays the entire cost of transportation between New York and Liverpool.—There we have a plain showing of a loss to our planters of 3¼c. in gold (about 5c. in currency) on each pound of cotton shipped to New York instead of Liverpool.

We bear in mind the fact that it takes a rather better description of cotton to rate as "middling" in New York than that so rated in Liverpool. This makes the difference still greater in favor of the latter market, but it is so small that we take no notice of it. It would probably cover drayage.

It may be said that cotton would this week have probably advanced a little in the New York market (say ½ to 1c.) in response to the Liverpool market, but for the fact that gold has been declining. This is only another argument in favor of direct trade with Liverpool. Our great staple is too much under the control of New York commercial gamblers—too much affected by their swindling operations for advancing or lowering the value of the currency of the country. The southern people, in their struggle to retain prosperity, need stability in the currency for which they sell the only staple that brings them much money. This they can secure, as well as much better prices, by establishing a direct trade with Europe; and they would also gain largely by a trade that would enable them to purchase in Europe, at lower prices than at present, many commodities now bought in our Northern States.

[From the Baltimore Sun.]

LABOR IN THE SOUTH.

The Richmond Whig mentions that a large and successful farmer from the south side of James River, in a late conversation, expressed his concurrence in the views of that journal, and which, we may add, have from time to time been expressed in the Sun, that the colored population constitute the only resource of the South for labor at present, and will probably be the chief reliance in the future. Whilst there is room for white labor, and whilst small farms to those who may wish to truck or introduce new crops, or new modes of culture, may be made very profitable, large farms are considered essential to the successful cultivation of tobacco and other staples and for this cultivation the reliance must be upon the blacks. Whilst some of these will not work, it is recommended that those who are available "should be warmly encouraged, should have comfortable dwellings, with five or ten acres of land for their families to cultivate, and with such other privileges as may tend to better their condition. A kind and liberal and forbearing treatment of the negro, and an earnest effort to promote his well-being, are dictated not more by considerations of humanity than of sound policy and self-interest." These sentiments are of significance, coming from an ancient Virginia journal whose relations to an understanding of the landholding interests of that state, it is to be presumed, are such as to enable it to speak on this subject intelligently. The vast amount of labor now in the South, and which has been the product of generations, ought to be considered a blessing, and may be made such, both to the South and the country, if it can be kept clear from the disorganizing influences of political agitation. The practical direction which Southern energies are taking upon this and other kindred subjects is of happy augury. While, of course, a free and self-governing political condition is of paramount importance, yet if that section, in view of present circumstances, shall place its chief reliance upon the development of its industrial and physical resources, it may afford for the present not to look to parties for aid, and will eventually be in a position to dispense favors instead of seeking them.

EXPENSE OF BROWNLOW'S OLIGARCHY.

We stated yesterday that the people of Tennessee "have already contributed more to the support of the Brownlow administration than they had to pay for the support of the State government in any six years before the war." We fled on a reference to the reports of the Comptroller that it is made worse than we stated. For instance, the total amount of revenue collected for the ten years beginning with 1859 and ending with 1868, amounts to $7,264,207.93. From this sum should be deducted the profits of the Bank of Tennessee, amounting to $1,770,673.53, leaving $5,459,594.47 collected from the people in the shape of taxes.—Now, how stands the case? The Brownlow dynasty has collected from the people in the shape of taxes during the three and a half years it has been in power the sum of $6,184,325,78, being $690,731,31 more than was collected from the people in ten years before the war. This shows the terribly oppressive character of the Brownlow administration in a financial point of view. During the ten years from 1852 to 1861, there was expended for common schools and academies the sum of $1,919,663,72.—The Brownlow Government has expended but about $200,000. During the ten years from 1852 to 1864, the expenses of the Legislature were $483,718, while during the three and a half years of the Brownlow administration, they have run up to $520,006. This is a fair illustration of the reckless, extravagant manner in which the people's money has been expended by the present administration. It is so in every department of the government. There has been nothing like economy practised by the Brownlow administration. The total expenses of the government for the ten years previous to 1861 were $7,301,353. Of this amount about $2,750,000 was expended for schools and public charities, so that the expenses of the State government for ten years were but little over $4,500,000. The expenses of the Brownlow administration for three years and a half have been $5,163,268,35, while the amount paid out for schools and charities will probably not reach a quarter of a million dollars; thus showing that the expenses of the Brownlow administration have been greater by nearly a million and a half than for ten years previous to the war. When the State was prosperous the taxes were light, and the government bore lightly on the people.—Now that they have been impoverished by the war, the policy of Brownlow and his myrmidons is to grind them to powder; to bring ruin and bankruptcy upon them and their children, that strangers may become the possessors of their once peaceful and prosperous homes. Instead of exerting the power of his office, and counselling his Legislature to encourage and foster industry and enterprise, and to make us one people, he has sought to infuse among us a spirit of evil, and to impose the most grievous burdens upon industry and property. The history of Brownlow's administration show conclusively that his rule means high taxes and ruin to the people of this State, and all because they will not bow submissively to his usurpations and tyranny.

A Most Wonderful and Successful Invention!

NEW METHOD OF WASHING CLOTHES WITHOUT LABOR.

THE AUTOMATIC

CLOTHES WASHER AND BOILER.

Awarded the highest Testimonial wherever exhibited in the United States.

THIS BOILER OPERATES UPON PURELY philosophical principles.

It is self-acting and dispenses entirely with labor and the wear of clothes.

The hot suds and steam, by the action of fire, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the Clothes and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing it perfectly without any rubbing. It has been thoroughly tested and pronounced unequalled as a Clothes Washer by those who have used it.

All fabrics, from the finest laces to the bed-blanket, can be washed perfectly and with ease without the aid of the rubbing-board. For Flannels it is invaluable as the rubbing, rolling, and pressing process, must necessarily full them, more or less.

It is truly a labor and clothes saving invention. Washing will no longer be a hardship, and washing day no longer a terror and a dread to housewives.

The invention can be used in any boiler, and the low price of the article places it within the reach of every family.

If the directions are strictly followed, success is certain.

The saving in the wear of clothes will very soon pay for the outlay.

It is estimated that 200 to 300 gallons of boiled suds pass through the clothes in thirty minutes; this being the longest time required for cleansing a boiler full of clothes.

Having purchased the exclusive interest and control of the Automatic Clothes Washer and Boiler, for North Carolina, we have established a depot in Raleigh, where we are prepared to fill orders or to sell COUNTY RIGHTS. Letters addressed to us at Raleigh, N. C., or Portsmouth, Va., will receive prompt attention.

NORTH CAROLINA.

It is now definitely ascertained that the majority for the Radical Electoral ticket in this State is between eight and ten thousand votes. The announcement of this mortifying fact will go far to increase the bad repute which the State has incurred by the results of previous elections in the process of "reconstruction." It has been justly quoted to our discredit, among true men, the whole country over, that, even prior to the adoption of the new Constitution, which disfranchises no one from voting, with a registered white majority of over 30,000, the State should have been allowed to fall into the mongrel embraces of Radicalism. It will be considered still more unaccountable, among true men everywhere, upon any hypothesis creditable to the character of the State, that, with a largely increased white majority, she should not, in the election just held, have redeemed herself. It is unaccountable. We shall not attempt to explain it. But it is our honest conviction that North Carolina has done much, by this result, to injure her fair name and bring reproach upon her record.

Why? Not that she voted for General Grant, because that fact, disconnected from other considerations, might have been explained satisfactorily. The name of Gen. Blair and the shibboleth, "Let us have Peace," utterly perverted the vision of many weak but honest people as to the real issues at stake. But it should have been expected—it ought to have been expected of a people, who had not lost the instincts of manhood, that they would, on the first opportunity of popular expression, which has happened since the present mongrel and offensive State government was forced upon us, have determined, in spite of every obstacle, to express their disapprobation of the enormities which have thus far characterized its brief reign. It might have been expected,—and ought to have been expected,—that they would, sternly rebuke, at the ballot-box, the extravagance and recklessness, the malevolent and proscriptive spirit, the dastardly insult to the women of the State, of which the Radical party in North Carolina, through its Legislature, in the one case, its "Governor," in the other, and its organ, in the latter, has been guilty. And herein lies the reproach that is brought upon us: A large and overwhelming majority of the people of North Carolina do condemn these things, and are filled with indignation at the brazen front which they have displayed and are displaying, but yet many were too weak kneed, too timorous, to avow it in the only unmistakable and effective manner that was left them. We hope better things for the future. North Carolina has a great duty to perform at the ballot-box, when the opportunity shall again occur, before she can regain her ancient and honored eminence.

GEN. GRANT'S CABINET.

We can have no personal interest, either present or prospective, in the composition of Gen. Grant's Cabinet or the officiary of the country under his administration.—Our only concern is that the government shall be administered ably and economically, in accordance with the Constitution, and in the spirit of justice and benevolence to all.

It seems, however, that the letter writers and politicians have begun, in good earnest, to make a Cabinet for him, which will doubtless be kept up until the 4th of March next. As yet, most of the speculations run in a particular circle, introducing but few new men. If the public have not estimated Gen. Grant's character and feelings incorrectly, many of the speculators as to the complexion of the Cabinet will be mistaken. The talismanic power, which elected Gen. Grant, was derived chiefly from his intentions as declared by his brief motto, "Let us have peace." This chimed in with the general feeling of the country, and would have secured him an almost unanimous vote, if all the people could have been assured, that the party, which nominated him, was really a peace party. Moreover, Gen. Grant, by his few utterances, has strongly impressed the public mind, that, being no politician himself, he had no admiration for politicians, and would be careful not to complicate himself with them, nor be entangled in their meshes. But many of the parties named have no other claim than that they are, and have been, mere trading politicians, who have done more to involve and keep the country in turmoil and strife, than all others beside. The few real statesmen connected with the Radical party are generally ignored by these speculators. If the object of Gen. Grant be the peace, the harmony and the prosperity of the country, he will certainly eschew most of the parties yet named, and call to his aid the most cool, honest and sagacious statesmen at his command, avoiding alliances with men, whose history and temper are the antipodes of his own. That he will do this, and carry out such a policy as the moderate Republicans and Democrats of the North seem generally to expect from him, we doubt; yet it is our earnest wish that he may not disappoint the sober expectations of the moderate, peace-loving and law-abiding public.

OPPOSITION TO THE GOVERNMENT.

Our bad-tempered, badmannered and bad-hearted political opponents are likely never to tire in the work of defamation, falsehood and misrepresentation. They prefer violence and turmoil to sobriety and quiet—war to peace—falsehood to truth. Since the war, the Democrats and Conservatives of the South have never ceased to declare their fidelity to the government, and have proven it by their constant obedience to the laws of the land and their constant support of them, by the payment of taxes, &c. Fewer crimes or violations of law have been committed by those who support their principles, as a class, than by those of the opposition. They have discountenanced all hostility to all laws or constitutions which violates good citizenship, which have been forced upon them, in any form. They have declared their readiness, and have shown it by their acts, to observe and submit to all laws or constitutions which they esteem to be bad, until they can be repealed or modified in a lawful way. These have been our constant positions. The subversion of the carpet-bag governments of the South, by any kind of force or fraud, on the part of the Southern people, we have never favored or encouraged, nor will we. We hold that the people of the State have the right to correct abuses or remove the excrescences of government, and to regulate their own internal affairs according to law. Revolution we regard as only the last resort of a free people, when all other means have been exhausted to correct evils. The trial of it, in the past, either in reference to National or State affairs, never accorded with our views of sound policy, and only received our sanction, when all hope of avoiding it was gone.

The people of North Carolina acquiesced in President Johnson's policy, not because they believed it regular, constitutional or best, but they accepted it as the only means of restoration offered them, and, as they hoped, as the shortest road to relief from military rule. Congressional reconstruction, though far more objectionable and damaging, they acquiesce in, for the same reason, and hence, while they deplore, and are opposed to, many of the radical changes made by the Radicals of this State in our old Constitution, not at all demanded by the "Reconstruction acts," and while they do not admit the competency or fitness of many of the agents selected by their opponents to administer the government, no one, that we are aware of, dreams or desires now, or has, at any time in the past, to change or modify what they deem incompatible with the peace and future prosperity of the State, except by the peaceful remedy of the ballot-box. The entire conduct of the Democrats and Conservatives, during the late campaign and since the results of the canvass were known, establish this beyond doubt to any and every unprejudiced mind.

But our ill-tempered opponents are determined to follow the fancies of their own bad imaginations, in conjuring up evil intentions and hostility, with no other earthly foundation than the little retaliations and often the jeux d'esprit of the Democratic press, provoked by the violent assaults of the Radicals and their unfounded misrepresentations.

We declare, emphatically, that the Democrats desire nothing but peace and quiet—nothing but well regulated government, administered in a kind and patriotic spirit, looking to the good of all classes equally, and the general interests of the State. No government, however good in itself, can be good in practice or perform its legitimate functions, when administered by bad men, in the interests of one party, and one party, alone. Such is the avowed purpose of the Administration in this State. That such an administration will be unpopular and condemned by the opposition, is what every one should expect. A desire, on the part of those who administer it, to do justly and properly, could be easily discovered by the people in its acts. Its professions are not worth a rope of sand, when those, who administer it, show their delight in encouraging opposition,—when they resort to every petty agency to irritate and disturb the quiet of the people—when they embrace every opportunity, feigned or real, to retaliate or attribute unfounded designs and bad motives to them, in defiance of their protestations of a purpose to keep the laws and not to seek to change or modify them, except in accordance with the law!

THE DISFRANCHISED.

The New York World labors under an error in supposing that there are over 20,000 disfranchised persons in the State.—No male citizen of this State, new or old, is deprived of suffrage. The only political disability, under which any man labors, is the deprivation of the right to hold either State or Federal office, under the "Howard" or 14th amendment of the Federal Constitution. The exact number of such persons cannot be ascertained. The generally received idea is that the number is between 12,000 and 16,000, some holding that the number is greater than the latter number. We judge that 15,000 will cover the number.

This, however, small as it is, embraces a very large portion of our most experienced and competent citizens, rendering it difficult, especially under the enfranchisement of a large number of incompetent voters, to place the interests of the State in safe hands.

SALT IN N. C.—David F. Caldwell, Esq., of Guilford, in noticing the recent renting of the King Salt Works in Virginia to a company for $32,000 in gold, per year, calls the attention of the public, through the Patriot and Times, to the existence of extensive salt mines in Rockingham county, near Madison. He says that any one will be satisfied of this, on visiting the premises of Robt. Lewis, Esq., in that neighborhood. He proposes to be one of a number of gentlemen who will subscribe to have the matter tested, which, he says, will cost not more than $1,200. We hope this proposition will be accepted.

FINANCIAL INTERESTS OF SOUTH CAROLINA—SENSIBLE CONDUCT OF THE DEMOCRACY.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 10.—Governor Scott, accompanied by General Sawyer and a deputation of prominent citizens, started for New York yesterday morning, with the view of advancing the financial interest of the State, and enlisting Northern capital to secure the speedy completion of the Blue Ridge Railroad, which is the missing link in a continuous railway line between Charleston and Cincinnati. The Governor is much gratified at the quiet and order that marked the election throughout the State. After the announcement of the result, a number of prominent Democrats, including Hampton, called in a body on Governor Scott, and declared their determination to accept cheerfully and abide by the decision of the people, to stand by the State government in its acts, and to use all their influence in inducing the people throughout the State do likewise. They express their conviction that the future prosperity of the State depended upon a unanimous and hearty support of the Government, and a reliance upon the ballot box alone in the future as a remedy for the evils of unwise legislation.

In reply, the Governor expressed the great pleasure their visit had given him, and his belief that this action on their part would do more to restore unanimity among our people, and place the credit of the State where it deserves to be, than any political expression could possibly effect. He expressed the belief that, owing to the small debt of the State, in comparison with the liabilities of others, with a successful administration of the State Government and acquiescence and harmony among the people, South Carolina, by internal improvements and otherwise, must, in a short time, become financially one of the foremost States of the Union, as she was already, from her climate and geographical position, one of the most attractive.

If the present Executive of this State had manifested one tithe of the good sense and good feeling of Gov. Scott, we should have in North Carolina equally as harmonious a condition of affairs as seems happily to exist in our sister State. Though not a citizen of the State, Gov. S. has exhibited a regard for its real interests and a disposition to conciliate, which stamps him as altogether the best of the Reconstruction "Governors."

WILMINGTON AND WELDON RAILROAD.—The Thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Stockholders of this Road was held in Wilmington, on Wednesday. W. S. Battle, Esq., of Edgecombe, presided, and John W. Thompson and Donald McRae, Esq., were Secretaries.

The following resolutions, among others, were adopted by the meeting:

Offered by Col. Fremont:

WHEREAS, The State of North Carolina owns three-fourths of the capital stock of the North Carolina Railroad Company, and it is therefore manifestly to the interest of the tax payers that it should be so worked as to yield to the State the largest possible income consistent with justice to its patrons; and whereas, it is equally evident that by using the whole line, instead of as now when practicable in the transportation of passengers and freight, that this end will be accomplished; and whereas, after securing the foregoing object, (largest income to the State,) it should be worked with a view of giving as much business to other public works in which the State has an interest as possible; therefore

Resolved, That application be made to the Governor and Board of Internal Improvement, or other Executive or Legislative authority as may be necessary, to see justice done to the State as well as to this Company, whose road connects with its road at Goldsboro'.

Resolved, That this subject claims the immediate and unremitting attention of the President and Directors and General Superintendent, to whom it is referred, with full authority to make any contracts or offer any inducements compatible with the interests of this company to that of the North Carolina Railroad Company, that will justify that Company in working its entire line to Goldsboro', and working in close connection with this company, in which the State is largely interested.

Offered by Col. E. D. Hall;

Resolved, That the President and Directors of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad Company be, and are hereby, authorized to institute such legal proceedings as they may deem necessary to test the legality of the late Charter granted to the Chatham Railroad, continuing the same to Columbia, S. C.; and to prevent the building of the same.

The discussion of this resolution was participated in by Col. E. D. Hall, Gen. Abbott, (State Proxy,) W. A. Wright, Esq., and Judge Howard.

Gen. Abbott moved to lay the motion on the table, and called for a stock vote. This resulted as follows:

Ayes	3,601
Nays	9,371½
	12,972½

The question occurred upon the original resolution, and it was then adopted.

R. R. Bridgers, Esq., was re-elected President of the Road by the following vote:—Mr. Bridgers 8,947½; C. H. Brogden 3,452. W. A. Wright, A. H. Van Bokkelin, E. Murray, S. D. Wallace, Alfred Martin, Geo. Harriss and Jno. Everett were re-elected Directors, on the part of the Stockholders. The following were announced as Directors, on behalf of the State, viz: Curtis H. Brogden, L. G. Estes, Jos. S. Cannon.

WHEN THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS MEET.—The electors chosen in each State meet at the capital of their respective States on the first Wednesday in December. They vote by distinct ballots for President and Vice President, and send the result, carefully sealed, by a special messenger, who will deliver it to Hon. Benj. F. Wade, President of the Senate. The Senate and House, having fixed a day for a joint convention, will assemble together in the House. Mr. Wade will open the certificate, count the votes, and announce the result.

THE RICHMOND Whig revives an anecdote, which aptly illustrates the purposes of the carpet baggers, who are infesting the South: When the carriages, which conveyed the German strumpets of George I, arrived in London, they were rather boisterously greeted by the mob—whom, to pacify, the alarmed frailty of the vehicles soothingly addressed: "Goot peoples, we are come for all your goots." "Yes, d—n you, and all our chattels, too," was the apt and vigorous reply.

From the New York Express.

JACOB THOMPSON AND THE INDIAN TRUST FUNDS.

Jacob Thompson, Secretary of the Interior under President Buchanan, has written a letter from Montreal, defending himself against charges that he was a defaulter with regard to certain Indian trust funds. Mr. Thompson says:

"The transaction from which these damaging charges against President Buchanan's Secretaries arise is this: In the year 1860 one Godard Bailey was a disbursing clerk in the Interior Department, and thus became the custodian of the Indian trust fund. It consisted of bonds of the United States and of several of the States, and amounted to $3 396,241. He had the key of the safe in which these securities were kept, and for more than three years discharged his trust with unimpeachable integrity and great acceptableness to the head of the department. In the summer and fall of 1860, without any authority from the Secretary of the Interior, and without the knowledge of a single person connected with the Government, he took from the safe in his custody bonds to the amount of $870,000, and delivered them into the hands of one William H. Russell, taking his receipt for the same, and he took from the said Russell, as collateral security for the return of the bonds, drafts drawn by Messrs. Russell, Majors & Waddell, large Government contractors, on the War Department, and accepted by the Secretary of War. These accepted drafts also amounted to $870,000. This is the whole case."

Mr. Thompson publishes a letter from Bailey, dated December 1, 1860, in which the latter acknowledges these facts, and exonerates the former from even the shadow of any complicity in the transaction. A committee of Congress, appointed afterwards to investigate the matter, and composed of men opposed, with but one exception, to the administration, entirely exonerated Mr. Thompson. This gentleman also says of the dead Secretary Floyd:

"His accepting the drafts of Messrs. Russell, Majors & Waddell, and allowing them to be thrown upon the market, was unquestionably a grave administrative error, whatever may have been his motives. But the committee failed to find, after the most diligent search in this direction, any evidence that he had anything whatever to do with Bailey's transaction."

As a proof that Mr. Thompson administered the affairs of the Department of the Interior capably as well as honorably, he cites the facts that from his subordinates—there were taken, Mr. Holt to be made Postmaster General; Gov. Thomas to be made Secretary of the Treasury, and afterwards Senator of the United States de jure; Col. Cummings to be made Governor of Utah, and Gen. Denver to be made Governor of Kansas, both in the times of greatest difficulty; Mr. Hendricks to be made a Senator, and afterwards to become a most prominent candidate for the Presidency of the United States; Gen. Meigs to be made Quartermaster General of the Federal army, and Mr. Hoke to become a distinguished General in the Southern army; and after my withdrawal my chief clerk, Mr. Kelly, became the acting Secretary of the Interior.

HOW PRESIDENTS ARE ELECTED.—The modus operandi of electing a President, after the Presidential electors have been chosen, may not be familiar to all, so we condense from the Philadelphia Ledger an account of the process. The Constitution provides that the electors, chosen in such manner as the Legislature of each State may prescribe, shall meet in their respective States and vote by ballot for President and Vice President. At the meetings, known as "electoral colleges," the electors are required to make lists of the persons they vote for, and the number of votes cast for each, which lists they are required to sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the President of the Senate of the United States, at the seat of Government. That officer is required to open these certificates in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, and the votes are then to be counted, and the person having the greatest number of electoral votes for President, if such a number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, is declared to be the President; and so of the Vice President.

An act of Congress of March 1, 1792, which fixed a uniform time for the holding of the Presidential election throughout the country, also provides for further details. It requires the Executive authority of each State to cause three certified lists of the electors chosen by said State to be made out and delivered to the electors on or before the first Wednesday of December next after the election, and that said electors shall meet and give their votes on the said first Wednesday in December, at such place as the Legislature of the State shall direct. In this State, Albany is the place designated. The electors vote by ballot and are required to make three certified lists, which shall be signed by all the electors, with a certified list of the electors attached to each; then to be sealed up in three separate packages, and a further certificate endorsed on the envelope of each, signed by all the electors, stating that the package contains a list of the votes of such State for President and Vice President.—The electors are then required to appoint and commission a person to take charge of and deliver one of the said certified packages to the President of the Senate at the seat of Government, on or before the first Wednesday in January next ensuing; they are further required to forthwith forward another of said certificates by the Post office to the President of the Senate, and the third is to be delivered to the judge of the district in which the electors are assembled. These and other minute provisions are made to guard against the possible loss or failure of a certificate. In order to have certainty as to the counting of votes so forwarded, Congress is required to be in session on the second Wednesday of February succeeding every meeting of the electors, on which day the certificates are to be opened in the presence of both Houses, and the result declared as already stated.—Buffalo Courier.

HIS MOTIVE.—"Gov." Clayton, of Arkansas, has a motive for disfranchising the people of eleven counties of the State, and organizing 60,000—only think of it!—negro military mirmidons to tyrannize over all the whites. He is trying by these methods to force himself into the U. S. Senate.

COL. STEPHEN D. POOL, of the Journal of Commerce, has associated with him his two sons, S. D. Pool, Jr., and H. C. Pool. The latter will be Associate Editor and the former will have charge of the Local department. Success to them all!

A YANKEE INVENTION.—A recent marriage in a neighboring town, says the Boston Traveller, was performed by Rev. Mrs. Hanaford, assisted by Rev. Olympia Brown. To make the affair complete, the bridegroom will hereafter be known by the family name of the bride.

The Democrats polled in Massachusetts sixty thousand votes—sixty thousand "good men and true" is a very respectable and strong party in Massachusetts, and not easily to be "put down" by the dominant party there.

UNIVERSAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY. A GOOD MAN Leaveth an INHERITANCE. NEW YORK.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
NEW YORK.
Office, No. 69, Liberty Street.

The Original Joint Stock Life Insurance Company in the United States.

The business of this Company is EXCLUSIVELY confined to the insurance of first-class healthy lives.

THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURE

of the Stock system of Life Insurance, as opposed to the Mutual, is a low rate of premium for a stated sum assured, which is IMMEDIATE, SECURED, and CERTAIN; in lieu of a high rate of premium for a promised dividend which is DISTANT, CONTINGENT, and UNCERTAIN; this so-called dividend being merely a return of a portion of the excessive and unnecessary premium charged in the first instance.

ILLUSTRATION.

Suppose that an individual aged thirty desires to devote $200 a year for the purpose of effecting an insurance on his life; this amount will immediately secure him in the 'Universal' the sum of $11,751, payable on his decease. This sum, paid to a Company charging the ordinary mutual rates, would secure him the sum of $8,474.

The difference between these sums ($3,277) is exactly the same as an immediate bonus or addition to the policy to be paid by the former office to the holder of the policy in case of the early death of the insured. It is true that if the insured, in an office charging high rates, live long enough, and have his periodical dividends added to his policy, the sum may equal or surpass that above named; but it must not be forgotten that the chance of early death is the very thing the applicant desires to insure against, and consequently the greater the sum immediately secured contingent on this event, the greater the advantage to the policy-holder.

To illustrate the importance to the policy-holder of low premiums in more general terms, it may be stated that by a reduction of twenty-five per cent in the rate of premium, the same amount of money will secure a policy thirty-three and one-third per cent greater and likewise that a reduction of twenty-five per cent. in the rate of premium is precisely equivalent to an annual cash dividend of thirty three and one-third per cent., payable in advance, or to a dividend of forty-five per cent. payable at the end of five years.

By the Stock plan the full cash effect of the premium is immediately secured to the insured, the Company taking all the risk. By the Mutual plan, the full value in insurance of the premium paid is not secured to the policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself.

Rates to Secure $1,000 at Death.

"THE HUMORS OF RECONSTRUCTION."—Mr. Cowardin, of the Richmond Dispatch, will deliver his celebrated lecture on Reconstruction, in Greensboro', on Monday, 16th. We should be pleased to see our cotemporary down this way.

P. S.—Since the foregoing was in type, we have been pleased to learn that Mr. Cowardin will give his famous humorous representations of the late Reconstruction Convention in Virginia, at Tucker Hall, in this City, on Tuesday evening. We bespeak for him a crowded house. The public may expect a rich treat, we promise them. Further particulars in our next.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Raleigh make the following statement of their operations to the Christain public.

Since the resumption of operations in October, 1867, they have received as follows:

Private contributions of citizens and others,	81 00
Baltimore Relief Association through Hon D. M. Barringer,	$200 00
From Dyersburg, West Tennessee,	173 25
From Lectures and Readings,	174,00
From License Tax ordered by Gen. Sickles to be appropriated to the poor,	1,150.00
Making a total of	$1,778,25

The expenditures of the Association have amounted as follows:

Contingent expenses, travelling of Lecturers, &c.,	71,50
For wood,	409,00
For provisions,	1,123 40
For relief otherwise furnished,	149,02
Making a total expenditure of	$1,733,92

In addition to these receipts, Mr. Page supplied ten cords of wood, and Messrs. J. R. Hunter & Co., of Portsmouth, 50 bushels of corn. The thanks of the Association are hereby again tendered to the generous donors, and to all the parties and agencies through whom the means to carry on the operations of the Association have been supplied. Without these donations, and the License Tax ordered by the military authorities, the Association could have done but little. It is proper here to add, however, that the citizens have never been called on during the past year, the Association being thus otherwise supplied with funds. They responded most liberally during a period of severe pressure the winter preceding, and their timely aid is gratefully remembered.

During the year that has passed, and especially in the cold and destitution of the winter and spring months, more than two hundred families, (many in large measure, and some solely,) were dependent on the aid of the Association. Four hundred and nine tickets for wood were issued, and one thousand one hundred and twenty-three tickets for provisions. But for the opportune relief afforded by the Association, the suffering and destitution would have been intolerable.

The plan of operations now adopted after many years experience, is considered the best, and commended to the favorable regard of the public. The city is divided into twelve districts with distinct boundaries. One member, usually one who resides in the district, is appointed for each district and entrusted with the supervision of the poor. By personal inspection and inquiry, he ascertains the wants of his district, the destitution and need, and, upon his application, tickets are furnished the deserving parties. Many of the deserving and industrious poor would never ask for help—while the thriftless and undeserving are ever prompt. In this way the real necessities, it was hoped, would be relieved, and the shameless begging of others checked. If those citizens whose kindness prompts them to charity to street mendicants would give their alms only to the Association or such organized means, and report the beggar to some officer or member of the Association, the growing evil of street mendicancy might be overcome.

The rigors of the winter are approaching. The Association with a depleted treasury girds itself for the work it has to do. The chief source of revenue, by means of which it accomplished so much—(the city liquor taxes)—is cut off. But the work must be done. The Association has made itself a need in the community that cannot be dispensed with.

The Association asks the help, the prayers of all good men. More than fifty names are nominally on the rolls, yet the management of its affairs has fallen on few. We need more members; members who are willing to work and aid in sustaining the designs of the Association. It cannot prosper except by deliberation and counsel, by labor and effort. We cordially invite all who sympathize with our high purposes to lend us their hearty influence.

During the ensuing season, a course of Lectures will be delivered in this City, by distinguished gentlemen, sons of our own and sister States. Thus, it is hoped, not only means may be secured for the operations of the Association, but opportunities offered for high and pure intellectual enjoyment, and the cultivation of better tastes.

The officers of the Association are

Wm. H. CROW, President.
JNO. ANDERSON, } Vice Presidents.
W. J. YOUNG, }
W. H. SPENCER, Secretary.
J. A. JONES, Treasurer.

Any gentlemen of good moral standing, or members of different Christian Churches, are earnestly solicited to cast in their lot with us. Paying members especially desired.

MR. FOSTER'S INVENTION—THE TYPE-SETTING MACHINE.—We have been furnished, by the Inventor, with the following detailed description of the the new Type-Setting Machine, by our ingenious county-man, F. G. Foster, Esq., for which he has recently obtained a patent:

"The machine is composed, essentially, of a key-board, type-boxes, a series of conductors or conveyors, fingers and a "stick."

The Key-board has much the appearance of two piano key-boards, ranged one above the other; but, with this difference: The keys are arranged in clusters or groups, to facilitate their working, by assisting the eye in finding immediately any required letter. These groups are again divided into colors, for the same purpose; so that by once glancing over the board and noticing the arrangement of the groups, and the relation each letter bears to a cluster, or a color, any character designated can be instantly placed in the stick, by the mere action of touching its corresponding key. The first tier of keys, being that nearest the operator, is marked with the letters of the "Roman low-case,"—this being the case most used in all work,—the next with the "Roman capitals," third with the "Italic low case," and the highest, or furthest from the operator, with the "Italic Caps," the case least used. Each of these have their corresponding double-letters, marks of punctuation and other characters generally used in the composing room, or found in their respective "cases." These keys are attached, in the simplest manner, to a series of

Type boxes. The capacity of these type boxes can be altered to suit the convenience or pleasure of the printer; their highest convenient capacity being about two "cases." From these boxes the type are fed out by means of

Fingers moving silently on their respective axes. As a key is touched on the key-board, the corresponding finger takes from the type boxes the required character, and it immediately glides into the stick by means of the Conveyors or Conductors. These are stationary and require no external power to work them. They are arranged in the peculiar manner you noticed in the model exhibited to you some time since, and, with the fingers and type boxes, can be slipped out in a moment, and another of a different "font" substituted when desired. So that the expense of having a machine to set any "font" is obviated by the simplest means—it being only necessary, instead of the usual "cases" found in the printing office, to have the corresponding adjustable "plates," only one machine being required by any ordinary printing office for its different work. These boxes, conductors, &c., are arranged on the principle of the mathematical proportion of the comparative velocities of falling bodies. As you saw in the model exhibited, no character can out strip another on its way to the stick, but each accomplishes the distance and is placed in the stick in the order in which their corresponding keys are touched.

The Stick is somewhat of a peculiar arrangement. It can be adjusted to any sized column, from that of the ordinary newspaper to the widest book page; or the type can be set in a continued line. In the first instance the compositor needs no assistant, doing his own "justifying" on the completion of each line, which, when completed, is rapidly thrown back and discharged into the "galley" and another line is set. In the second instance, a second hand is required to cut off the line to its desired length and then to "justify." In both instances "space boxes," holding the different "spaces," are arranged in as convenient a manner as now in the ordinary "case;" except the "three em space," which is used in dividing words, and which has its corresponding key on the board, this being thought most desirable, as it is used, probably, more than any other "box" in the printer's case. Attached to the "stick" is a "composing rule," which adjusts itself, automatically, to the line previously adjusted in the stick. There is also attached to the "stick" a simple contrivance by which any character can be substituted for one placed in the line by mistake. For instance, in case an e is set for a c, the operator can by means of this attachment correct the mistake without changing his seat to get to a "case" in a different part of the room.

The type-boxes are filled by a little boy or girl; thereby substituting for skilled labor that of any person who knows his letters.

The full working machine is about 38 inches wide, by 40 deep, and 32 high; and, by careful estimates already made, can be constructed at a cost not exceeding $100.

I would also say that there is attached to the machine, when desired, a permanent adjustable galley which, with its attachments, can be used by the operator, without change of position, to strike off any number of "proofs" required, thereby making it a most convenient letter-writer, or form-printer for any office. This additional arrangement will increase its cost."

A BOLD IMPOSTOR—A DISCIPLE OF BUTLER.—Last week, a man called at the residence of R. F. Morriss, Esq., at Durham's, and asked a night's entertainment. He represented himself as an ex-Confederate, from Lowndes County, Alabama, who had crossed the Mississippi after the surrender, gone with Price to Mexico, and thence to Canada, from which he had made his way, by slow stages, on foot. Though without money, (he said,) he walked from choice, as physicians had told him that vigorous exercise was necessary for a partially paralyzed limb—the result of wounds he had received in the service. The man was intelligent, well-dressed and had the manners and bearing of a gentleman, Mr. Morriss, with his usual hospitality and kindness, not only entertained him for the night, but persuaded him to remain a day or two and rest. While there, he visited the Literary Society of the village, and exhibited so much intelligence that he was invited to deliver two lectures, which he did,—acquitting himself, we are informed, in a highly cultivated manner. But behold the denouement: A citizen, living a few miles from the village, who attended the last lecture, recognized him as having been at his house a few days previous, cotemporary with whose departure there had been a disappearance of spoons. After he was through his lecture he was arrested, his baggage searched and the spoons found! The rascal was examined before Magistrates and duly committed to Hillsboro' jail to await trial.

In Fort Delaware, in the days of watery soup, rancid meat and musty crackers, we knew of many a "reb," who considered "eating a cooked rat" quite a luxury.

HORRIBLE OUTRAGE—SUMMARY PUNISHMENT.—On Tuesday, the 3d inst., a most horrible crime was committed near Swainsboro', Emanuel County, by a negro named Pierce Bolding, upon the person of Miss Wiggins, a young lady of fifteen years, and the daughter of a respected citizen of that County. It appears that she was on her way to school in the village, when the negro rushed from the roadside, knocked her senseless, and accomplished his purpose.—She was found lying insensible by a passer-by and carried home, and on recovering related what had occurred. The officers of the law, and others, started in pursuit of the scoundrel, and overhauled him near Summerville, in the same county, from whence he was carried to jail, when he confessed having committed the deed. The same night a body of armed men proceeded to the jail, took him out, and hung him. Previous to his execution he stated that he and several other negroes had formed a plan on that day to violate the persons of several young ladies who attended school in the village, but the others overslept themselves and he started out alone, and Miss Wiggins was the first one he met.—Sosna & Nesa.

VOUDOUISM.—The Memphis Appeal relates a number of instances in that city where the superstitious rites of the native African were performed, and adds: "It may not be generally known to the public, but it is nevertheless a fact that these barbaric African superstitions and practices prevail, and are increasing among the 'freedmen,' not only of Memphis and Tennessee, but of all the Southern States. It is the clearest proof of inevitable tendency of the negro to relapse into barbarism when left to control himself."

THE Tribune insists that Gen. Grant shall not be the next President. It takes ground against the repeal of the tenure-of-office law, and says it does so without direct or indirect reference to the Administration of Gen. Grant. It "is decidedly against any change in the wise policy that took from the Presidential office its monarchical and despotic character."

Some say they bought goods before the rise—some after the decline—some just in time—some in luck again—some buy goods cheaper than anybody else—some selling goods at unprecedentedly low prices—some controlling the trade, &c., &c., and all such stuff. What a lucky set of individuals!

Now just let ME tell you, that there is more humbug than poetry in all this. Don't every man, woman and child know that it is humbug—large enough to be seen even with one eye shut? So let them talk, puff and blow, but STOP, LOOK OUT! HANDS OFF! and show your good judgment by

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1868.

THE DEAD SUMMER.

Ah, how she came and went! so stealthily,
That one can make the short-lived periods seem,
Even with their wealth of bird, and shrub and tree,
No other than a dream.

And yet the Summer has withheld no gift,
Such as God annually sends. The grateful shower,
The glorious sunshine, and the healthful breeze
Have blessed each passing hour.

The seed time and its cheerful promises
Of rich reward for labor have been given,
With luscious fruits and flowers, like conserv filled
With the sweet breath of Heaven.

Even now, while wrapped in royal drapery,
Lifeless upon her bier the Summer lies,
The hills as if unconscious of her fate
still wear their rich green dyes.

So quietly she left us, and so fair
The blushing blossoms looked that last she kissed,
We did not deem that anywhere on earth
So soon she would be missed.

But now the sunlight falls with paler beams,
And saddest look upon the tender grass,
And winds, ah, me! the plaintive, wandering winds,
Chant dirges as they pass!

While the lone cricket by my cottage door,
All tendency to fighter moods restraining,
Breaks the deep stillness of the Autumn eve
With rythmical complaining.

Somewhere a Summer waits that in due time
Will come and smile upon this dead one's sleeping,
And open into bloom the folded buds
Which Spring has in her keeping.

And those who wait and watch will greet with cheers
Each joyous signal of her queenly coming,
And nature will break out in songs again,
Sweet as the brooklet's humming.

Thus one by one the hurrying seasons pass,
Each cycle narrower to our human seeming,
Till, glancing backward, lo! the brief years be
Like some delusive dreaming.

Only the good and true of all our acts,
Like timid stars from out the darkness stealing
Strike their pure lights along the slope of Time
Life's real worth revealing.

SURVIVORS OF JOHN C. CALHOUN'S FAMILY.

A South Carolina correspondent gives some account of the survivors of the late John C. Calhoun's family. Early in life Mr. Calhoun married his cousin, Floride Calhoun, who eventually brought him a handsome fortune. It was in her right that he owned Fort Hill. Her brother, Col. J. E. Calhoun, owned two fine plantations adjoining, besides many acres of wooded land.

Of this marriage seven children—five sons and two daughters—arrived at years of maturity, all of whom outlived their father; but only one now survives, the eldest daughter, wife of T. G. Clemson, formerly Charge d'affairs at the Court of Belgium, a handsome, brilliant and fascinating woman, inheriting much of her father's talent, and always regarded by him with especial pride and fondness. Younger than this lady were four sons, of whom the eldest was Patrick—educated for the army; John, the next, studied medicine; James was a lawyer, and William, the youngest of the family, devoted his attention to planting.—All these died in early life. Between John and Patrick was a daughter, Cornelia, a confirmed invalid, who on that account was always treated with the most tender indulgence by her father. She also died some years ago.

During the war, Col. Andrew Calhoun, the eldest son, died very suddenly, before medical assistance could be procured. He was at that time living at Fort Hill, having purchased the place from his mother, who, finding the cares of planting too heavy, removed to a very pretty residence overlooking the little village of Pendleton. About eighteen months ago, she, too, died. Her health, until about two years previous to her death, was remarkably strong; but about that time a decline began, from which she never rallied. The eldest son, Col. Andrew Calhoun, has left a widow and six or seven children, of whom the two eldest are sons, both of whom fought during the war in the Southern army. Of the other sons, neither Patrick nor James ever married; Dr. John Calhoun left two sons, children as yet. William left one, also quite a child. Mrs. Clemson has two children, a son and daughter. Her son also fought during the war, and was for a long time prisoner at Johnson's Island. Her daughter inherits great powers of mind, personal beauty, charm of manner, and conversational power. Fort Hill remains at present in the possession of the family of Col. Andrew Calhoun, the eldest son.

"While living at Durham," says Dr. Warwick, "I took a walk one evening in Lord Stamford's park. On reaching a pond in which fish were kept ready for use I observed a fine pike of some six pounds weight. At my approach he darted away like an arrow. In his hurry he knocked his head against an iron hook fixed in a post in the water, fracturing his skull and injuring the optic nerve on one side of his head. He appeared to suffer terrible pain; he plunged into the mud, floundered hither and thither, and at last, leaping out of the water, fell on the bank. On examination, a portion of the brain was seen protruding through the fractured skull.

This I carefully restored to its place, making use of a small silver toothpick to raise the splinters of broken bone. The fish remained quiet during the operation; when it was over he plunged into the pond. At first his sufferings appeared to be relieved; but in the course of a few minutes he began rushing right and left until he again leaped out of the water.

I called the keeper, and with his assistance applied a bandage to the fracture.—That done, we restored him to the pond and left him to his fate. Next morning, as soon as I reached the water's edge, the pike swam to meet me quite close to the bank, and laid his head upon my feet. I thought this an extraordinary proceeding. Without further delay I examined the wound and found it was healing nicely. I then strolled for some time by the side of the pond. The fish swam after me, following my steps, and turning as I turned.

The following day I brought a few young friends with me to see the fish. He swam towards me as before. Little by little he became so tame as to come to my whistle and eat of my hand. With other persons, on the contrary, he continued as shy and wild as ever."

This anecdote is averred to have been read in 1850 before the Liverpool Literary and Philosophical Society.

"How do you like the character of St. Paul?" asked a parson of his landlady one day, during a conversation about the old saints and the apostles. "Ah! he was a good, clever old soul, I know, for he once said, you know, that we must eat what is set before us, and ask no questions for conscience sake. I always thought I should like him for a boarder."

"Have you not mistaken the pew, sir," blandly said a Sunday Chesterfield to a stranger who entered it. "I beg pardon," said the intruder, rising to go out, "I fear I have; I took it for a Christian's."
